

Masterclass in Metacognitive Therapy, Hannover, Germany

Adrian Wells and Hans M Nordahl will provide MCT masterclass in Hannover, Germany, once again. This training program is arranged by the Metacognitive Therapy Institute in Manchester and the MCT Institute- German Branch.

Metacognitive Therapy (MCT) is an innovative system of evidence based psychotherapy, which can be used treating a whole range of disorders. It is a treatment manual for some of the specific mental disorders, such as:

- Posttraumatic-Stress-Disorder
- Chronic depression
- General anxiety disorder
- Obsessive-compulsive disorder
- Social phobia disorder
- Borderline personality disorder
- Psychotic disorders

The training will run in 2019 and 2020 and will be held in Hannover, Germany. There will be individual supervision of cases on a regular basis with our nominated supervisors, who are experts in MCT. The supervision process is aided by a supervision log implemented via email. Workshops will be held four times a year. You will learn how to apply MCT to a variety of specific disorders The schedule for the 1st year is the following:

Content of the workshops 2019:

Block	Content	Coaches	Date
